Dear parents, staff and governors

It has certainly been a creative week at Coberley – Knex challenge, musical tuition, drama workshops, cave painting and a huge variety of plasticine animals created in Class 1. Fantastic fun.

I would also like to thank the children, staff, parents and governors for their help, hard work and kindness during our SIAMS inspection this week. It was an arduous process which has taken considerable time and paper trails to document what we do.

I was really pleased the inspector loved what we do and how we do it thus validating my belief in education. The results will be published in a couple of weeks but suffice to say the governors and I are very proud. Our next inspection will be carried out by Ofsted in about 30 months.

The school council have been meeting to discuss their plans for the year. The first step was to decide which charity we will be supporting and after a very impressive presentation by Sam, Chané, Leggy and Nathan the chosen charity this year will be the Air Ambulance.

Drama Workshop

Class 2 and 3 had an amazing afternoon of drama this week to showcase our values as freeze frames. The children had the opportunity to play lots of drama games and learn some key drama skills and have lots of fun.

Knex Challenge

Class 3 undertook their annual Knex challenge this week to make carnival floats. The range of skills and mechanical expertise was very impressive. This year the competition was run by Tom B and Ollie P, who will now go through to the regional final.
